

Pte Murray, of Jar- row, Laid Down Life For Empire

Letter to His Mother from Lieut.
Stevenson Tells How Bravely
He Gave Up His Life.

France, May 18th, 1917.
Mrs. James Murray,
Prince George, B.C.

Dear Mrs. Murray:— Just a few lines this afternoon to express to you and yours my deepest sympathy in the loss you have sustained in person of your beloved son. Long ere you received this letter and probably before now, your home will be saddened by the terrible news.

To explain his death I might say that on the night of May 7th about eleven o'clock our Battalion was moving up to the line; poor Jimmy was in charge of my Machine Gun section and with his on his shoulder was manfully leading his section into action. The Boche was shelling at the time and a stray shell happened to be the one that proved fatal both to him and a couple more of his comrades. He died instantly, and was not subject to the sufferings that so many of our brave fellows have to come through. I admired Jimmy. He was one of my best men and had, he come through alright, he would be a Corporal by now. Ever fearless in battle, true to duty and trustworthy in every detail, he held the respect of everyone who knew him. Truly he was one of those that we were proud to call a true Canadian soldier.

In expressing my sympathy, in your sad bereavement I am glad to say that there is one to whom we can look for consolation and comfort; one that helps us to share our sorrows and trials.

Jimmy's life has not been given in vain. For every one of our boys that fall in action, an average of six of the enemy also fall. Our Battalion has been especially mentioned for its efficiency and good work, and much of this is due to the fact that we have had with us such men as Jimmy Murray.

Trusting that you are enjoying good health and assuring you of my deep sympathy in your loss I remain, Faithfully,

J.M. Stevenson, Lieut.
O.C., No. 7 Platoon "B" Co.
44th Canadians, France.

Pte Walker Writes Letter From Dug- Out in France

Says France Has Better Horses
Than Canada—Relates News
of His Present Life.

France, May 30th, 1917
Dear Mama and all—

I am still anxiously looking for a letter from you, am always so glad to get them. It seems so long between each of them, but I am sure they are either sticking up some where or are lost coming over. I would like to know how Chas. is, also if he is still in England. I heard indirectly that his battalion was split up, and that some of them are over here. I am quite well and I wish that I was sure you were all the same, and how everything was going on over there. We have had some rain and it looks tonight that we may have more soon. The nights are mostly cool so far, but the growth of vegetation is fine. The soil is quite a lot as it is in old Ontario. The fields are yellow with Buttercups and Dandelions, and the grain crops are certainly fine. Altogether it is a beautiful country. They have some very fine horses here, far better on the average than I saw through the Canadian cities. The houses are almost all red brick, and the streets are paved with stone blocks in the centre, and crushed stone on the sides. We have a Y. M. C. A. here; also a hot and cold shower bath, where we can get clean clothing, etc. There is a library in connection with the "Y". We pay in a franc and get the books, then when we move they return the franc to us. I am on night duty again this week. It is hard for me to write a very interesting letter, but it will be some help to know that I am well and getting along O. K. Some day, which I hope is not far distant, I shall be where we can talk instead of write and be censored, back in old Alberta. The last of my Canadian tobacco is used up, but we get an issue, so do not send any over, for it would only be a chance that I should get it, and I am getting used to this now; I use more here, though, than I did back there. I shall have to close for this time for I must get ready to go on duty.

BETTER ROADS

So many complaints have reached us about the stone nuisance on our roads. "The Irma Times" has opened a subscription list for the purpose of removing the stones and filling up the holes. With subscriptions already received a start has been made on the Jarrow road and many of the objectionable stones that have for a long time been the cause of much annoyance and expense to the travelling public have been removed. It is planned to extend the work to other roads and to keep on until all the money subscribed is spent. Subscriptions received from farmers will be spent on roads used by the subscriber. Donations forwarded to F.W. Watkinson, Editor, will be acknowledged in the "Times" and will be spent on the work without delay. The placing of arrow signs pointing the best roads to towns is part of the scheme.

The road leading north by A. G. Walker's and Angus McMillan's has been graded and is now in good shape.

The telephones north of town are being erected. Several neighbors have connected up and are using the phones.

Special Excursion Train to Edmonton Exhibition July 10th, leaving Irma 8:52 a. m. and leaving Edmonton 11:29 p.m. on return trip, same date, $8.35 for the round trip.

Irma was helping Jarrow to celebrate on Monday. It was a perfect day and Jarrow excelled itself in entertaining the large crowd of visitors assembled. There was plenty of sport and most of the contests were very exciting. The capable stewards who had charge of the lengthy program kept things going at a lively pace and got through on time. About ten car loads left the Irma district and all returned safe and sound. No doubt the Red Cross fund will be considerably increased by the effort.

Be a Booster

Do you know there's lots of people
Settin' round in every town,
Growlin' like a broody chicken
Knockin' every good thing down?
Don't you be that kind o' grouch,
Cause they ain't no use on earth,
You just be a booster rooster,
Crow and boost for all your're worth.

If your town needs boostin' boost 'er,
Don't hold back and wait to see
If some other fellow's willin'—
Sail right in, this country's free,
No one's got a mortgage on it,
It's just yours as much as his;
If your town is shy on boosters,
You get in the boostin' biz.

If things just don't seem to suit you
And the world seems kinder wrong,
What's the matter with a boostin'
Just to help the thing along.
'Cause if things should stop a goin'
We'd be in a sorry plight,
You just keep the horn a-blowin'—
Boost 'er up with all your might.

If you know some fellow's failin's
Just forget 'em cause you know
That the same chap's got some good points,
Them's the ones you want to show.
'Cast your loaves out on the waters,
They'll come back," a sayin' true
Mebbe, too, they'll come back "battered"
When some feller boosts for you.

LIEUT. VAN PETTEN, FORMER TEACHER ROSS SCHOOL, CAPTURED TEN HUN WARRIORS AT REVOLVER POINT

Found Huns Lurking in a Trench During the Canadian Assault on Vimy Ridge—His Platoon Had Job of "Mopping Up" the German Dug-outs—Wounded by Sniper, But is Reported Fit Again and Ready to Return to Duty!

The parents of Lieutenant Emery J. Van Petten, of Camrose, former teacher at Ross school Irma, who was recently wounded at Vimy Ridge, have received a letter from their son, sent from No. 4 general hospital, King's College, Denmark Hill London. Lieut. Van Petten's many friends will be glad to know that he has fully recovered from his wound and is ready to return to duty. In his letter he says:

"We went over the top" on Easter Monday and wrestled the coveted Vimy Ridge from the wily Hun, while he was eating his Easter eggs. Vimy Ridge is quite an historical place and is of considerable strategic importance. It is a ridge several miles in length, rising gradually toward the Hun line for about a half a mile and then dropping off abruptly into a great level plain. From the top of it you can see for miles over a plain, which appears as level as a floor and in this sweep you can count towns and towns, including the city of Lens.

"The Germans took the place in their first advance into France. The French repulsed it at a cost of sixty or seventy thousand men. Then it was taken over by the British, who lost it. Now we have taken it and expect to hold it.

"It was a very pleasant little task and came off very nicely. Unfortunately our battalion happened to be the one of the brigades to be kept in reserve, so I was 'mopping up' with my platoon. We went over with the assault but instead of going through to the final objectives we had to stop at the intermediate objective and bomb the dugouts and see that they were clear. There was not much difficulty in this for most of the Germans were glad to be taken.

"At one time during the day I was standing on a mound, about a hundred yards from my platoon when I noticed some Huns concealing themselves and running up a trench. I fired my revolver and gave chase. When I got quite close to where they disappeared I stopped to reload. Then, stepping forward a few paces I could see one of them crouched in a trench about 30 feet away. I ordered him out, then another, and another, until I had ten of Hindenburg's indomitable troops. I set them to work carrying in some of our wounded men and of course, they eventually reached the big wire cage behind our lines. The prisoners were big men, well dressed and very fresh looking, but our artillery has the fear in them.

"The ground we advanced over was like a great honeycomb. There was not a square foot unturned by shells. In some of the dugouts we found eggs and oranges. They had been issued with Easter rations.

"Two days later a wily Hun tried to snuff my light away and that is why I am here. I was taking over a portion of the new line on the steep slope of Vimy. It was about dusk, snowing and miserable and the Huns were down at the foot of the hill, about 100 yards away. I had my men in the trench and I was going along to get down and to the last man who warned me I said I didn't give a whoop, I changed my mind soon afterward.

"A sniper took a try at me. The bullet entered the abdominal muscles, ricocheted against some 1917 pudding and came out again. When I left the line I thought he had fixed me, but the bullet evidently did not touch the internal organs.

"I am feeling fine and am enjoying my trip to the old country. My greatest hardship was living on hot milk for three days. Sir Robert Borden was in and talked to me for a minute yesterday."

Decorated Auto Con- test Friday Feature Of Edmonton Fair

A number from here have signified their intention of taking part in the contest, which is being run on by the Edmonton Exhibition Association and the Edmonton Automobile Club, for decorated cars, on Friday, July 13th—the day of the automobile show.

The exhibition, which is being held July 9th to 14th. There will be two sections in this contest—one for decorated private cars, and one for decorated industrial or commercial cars, and three trophies, valued at $35, $15, and $10—are being offered as prizes in each section. Everyone who has a motor car is invited to take part in this contest and parade. No entry fee is being charged, and the Exhibition Association has agreed to admit free of charge to the Exhibition grounds every decorated car in the parade, together with the driver of the car. If the automobilists or the automobile clubs of any district care to enter this contest as a unit, thus advertising their district, or if they prefer to enter their cars individually, a postal card to Manager Stark of the Edmonton Exhibition, or F. G. McDermid, of the Edmonton Automobile Club, will bring full particulars as to the hour and route of parade, judging, etc.

Setting a Good Example

Action of C.P.R. an Incentive to

Everyone

Mr. Charles H. Webster, secretary of the Live Stock Section of the Winnipeg Industrial Bureau, advises that he has been informed that the C.P.R., living up to the aims and objects of the Live Stock Section of the Bureau, have discontinued serving on all their lake boats, Pacific and Atlantic steamers, B.C. coast steamers, B.C. lake steamers, C.R.N. dining cars and C.P.R. hotels.

It is needless to say that when a large corporation like the C.P.R. takes such drastic steps that it should be an incentive to everyone to assist in a movement of this kind for preserving young animals, and also increasing the live stock production of our country.

Aerial Progress

Remarkable Development in Aircraft in the Past Nine Years

The great progress made in the development of aircraft in the last nine years was the subject of a recent lecture in London. In 1908 the Wright brothers flew at a rate of 35 miles an hour, while at the end of last year a speed of 142 miles an hour was attained by a Sopwith monoplane. The farthest distance flown by the Wrights in 1908 was 7.12 miles; the other day a Frenchman came near flying from Verdun to Russia (984 miles). The Wrights in 1908 reached an altitude of 500 feet, both a Frenchman and an Englishman had recently ascended to over 25,000 feet. The rate of ascent in 1909 by a Frenchman was 300 feet in 15 minutes; an aviator in England recently ascended 10,000 feet in 15 minutes, the first 5,000 in five minutes, which was equal to the ascent of the fastest lift. Once they found difficulty in carrying a single passenger, now the largest machines take a crew of sixteen and a load of a ton and a half.

With the Veterans

Men of Mons Who Are Still at the Front

That a good number of the heroes of Mons, are still in the firing line, and not working at the base, railway stations, supply centres, ammunition depots, repair shops, offices, canteens and similar places, has been demonstrated by a Frenchman on behalf of himself and four comrades in the artillery "Somewhere in France" one soldier says.

We arrived in France August, 1914, and were in the retreat from Mons, and have been through the following battles: Le Cateau, Marne, Aisne, Ypres, Ginchy, Courcelette, Festubert, Loos, Somme, Amiens and last, but not least, the big Vimy Ridge push. Far from being at the base, etc., we have been in trench mortars for the past twelve months, and have lately been throwing footballs with steel tails at the Boches.

Cheapest of All Oils.—Considering the curative qualities of Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil it is the cheapest of all preparations offered to the public. It is to be found in every drug store in Canada from coast to coast and all country merchants keep it for sale. So, being easily procurable and extremely moderate in price, no one should be without a bottle of it.

Difficult to Land We?

The most difficult part of flying is landing. In fact, according to high authorities in the British Flying Corps, nearly the whole art of flying lies in landing and a man who can land well under any conditions will be able to do anything else in the air on his own initiative, given a sound nerve. Nothing but experience makes it possible to land almost anywhere in a bad country with the engines stopped dead, and to drop down faultlessly on to a strange landing place without any indication as to the direction of the wind or the slope of the ground.

Enlarging Stock Yards

Union Stock Yards at Winnipeg to Have Increased Capacity

Directors of the Union Stock yards have decided to increase the capacity of the yards thirty per cent, and the efficiency of handling facilities forty per cent, at a cost approximating $100,000.

The block of pens immediately behind the present covered yards will be roofed, giving 115 additional covered pens; two new alleys with 40 catch pens will be put in off the new scale yards to facilitate the sorting and weighing of stock. At the east of the yards two more new alleys will be installed at the large pens used for shipment of range cattle.

Work on the improvements is to commence immediately with a view to finishing by August.

WOMEN! IT IS MAGIC!

LIFT OUT ANY CORN

Apply a few drops then lift corns or calluses off with fingers—no pain

Just think! You can lift off any corn or callus without pain or soreness.

A Cincinnati man discovered this either compound and named it freezone. Any drugist will sell a tiny bottle of freezone, like here shown, for very little cost. You can apply a few drops directly upon a tender corn or callus. Instantly the soreness disappears, then shortly you will find the corn or callus so loose that you can lift it right off.

Freezone is wonderful. It dries instantly. It doesn't eat away the corn or callus, but shrivels it up without even irritating the surrounding skin. Hard, soft or corns between the toes, as well as painful calluses, lift right off. There is no pain before or afterwards. If your drugist hasn't freezone, tell him to order a small bottle for you from his wholesale drug house.

Paper Making Secrets

The Oxford Press Syndicate values its formula for making the very thin, tough paper used in the Bible and encyclopedias at more than $1,000,000. To perfect the process required twenty-five years of hard work and the expenditure of $1,000,000 in cash.

A secret of even greater value is the formula for making the paper employed for the Bank of England notes. This is a family possession of the Portals of Lavenstoke, to whom already in two generations it has brought an enormous fortune.

"How is your garden?"

"Doing pretty fair."

"Anything peeping out that you planted?"

Boy Scout Notes

Official Recognition Is Made of Boy Scouts Uniform

Official recognition of the Boy Scouts' uniform in Canada has been given through Canadian Militia general orders in terms following:

"The Boy Scouts' uniform (B.P. hat or Sea Scout cap and Fleur-de-lis badge essential) is recognized as the uniform of a public service, non-military body."

A similar recognition was granted the Boy Scouts Association of England early in the war and the Boy Scouts of America have also been recognized in their active incorporation by the U.S. congress.

Sir Robert Baden-Powell, Chief Scout of the Boy Scouts of the British Empire received the following interesting message to Mr. Colin H. Livingstone, president of the National Council, Boy Scouts of America:

On the great historical step taken by the United States in coming into the war I feel that you must send one word of greeting from the Boy Scouts' point of view.

We are already bound to the Boy Scouts of America by the ties of brotherhood in working under the same laws and the same badge for the same ideals, and that the ties of brotherhood by our mutual blood relationship and history.

The new bond of alliance in a common cause for justice and right will be yet a stronger link in our mutual relationship in the future.

We have done war work over here in various forms behind the scenes, not necessarily involving the taking up of arms by boys under the age for military service, but by acting as watchmen over railway bridges, telegraph and cable lines, reservoirs, power works, etc., the lads have done valuable national service.

Also they have performed the duties of orderlies in large number for the war effort, admirably government and other officers and have carried out the coast watching service ever since the first outbreak of war. They have also supplied trained signallers and ambulance men where required. I mention these facts in case they may be suggestive to you in arranging duties for your Scouts in their different localities.

I feel sure that with the training they have received the Boy Scouts of America are in a position to do very valuable service for their country before the scenes in the present crisis and we over here shall watch their doings with the greatest interest and most cordial sympathy.

If there is any service that I can possibly render, I hope you will command me."

Of the Boy Scout proficiency badges awarded during the past year, 793 were ambulance badges. Next in popularity and in order of award was the Scouts' badge, 710.

In all presented to Boy Scouts who passed the necessary tests. Both are small, circular, and are awarded in three proficiency badges in all. Others in order of award follow: Missionary, Cycling, Swimming, Cooking, Landmark, Carpenter, Pathfinder, Musician, Swimmer, Gardener, Naturalist, Marksman, Scoutmaster, Scout, Bugler, Leatherworker, Pioneer.

The Turtle Auto

Bullets Cannot Hit This Strange War Machine

One of the weirdest looking machines yet devised for use in the world war is being built for the allies in France and Flanders. It is known as the "Turtle Auto," not from its lack of speed, but from its shape. The car is so designed that every part is curved in such a way that a projectile will glance off. No matter from what side the angle of attack is fired, the curved lines of the Turtle auto will offer but a slight resistance. The bullet will glance up or down horizontally.

The driver sees through a periscope and is entirely protected from bullets. Besides the character of the car, the soldiers who wield rifles through small portholes and make a four inch gun that can be fired at any angle. It is a very simple machine with no weapon or device. The Germans will evolve to combat the "Turtle car," which is said to have been the invention of an American.

Consider the Housewife

Tracking Dirt Into the House Causes Endless Work

How often we find ourselves, in our country homes especially, causing our housekeeper an endless amount of work. We shall not call it work but drudgery, that being a name given to chasing a mop over a large kitchen floor, such as is most often found in a country home. How many of us stop to think of how much we can help the busy housewife by taking it upon us to do our part in keeping mud out of doors where it belongs. I shall venture to say that we busy men, and we are busy, reach the house by the back door ten times to once by the front door.

I take it that you agree with me this far. If so, what should be our next move? Why not have our front walk at the back or on the back as well as the front? Why not fit us, those old dilapidated steps and put a foot scraper where it may be handy. Then let us build a walk of concrete, boards, or anything we may have suitable for such a purpose. Suppose the arrangement of the back steps is such that we can build a walk only to the back gate or to the well, let's do it. Watch the continuation of this article under the heading "How to Build That Walk."

Quite a Difference

Did you notice that in the Kaiser's telegram to the Crown Prince he speaks of carrying through the "right for existence to a glorious end." No longer domination, but of culture. But in all these the Christian church and the Christian ministry should lead the voice of the Master saying: "I have come not to send peace, but a sword." And they should lead Christ's followers forth, his troops on their hearts, his sword in their hands with malice toward none and with charity for all, to fight, to suffer and, if need be, to die for the Master's cause."

Conserve Young Cattle

Slaughter of Calves Results in Great Loss in Meat Production

Wholesale and unnecessary destruction of calves through the country, has influenced W.W. Fraser, recently appointed Live Stock Commissioner for Manitoba, to warn farmers to conserve their young cattle. He urges them against thoughtless slaughter of calves, and states that thousands are destroyed annually, with consequent loss in meat production and dairy supplies.

Could the public be brought to realize the astounding loss annually as a result of this destruction of calves, it would startle the most indifferent. Fraser states that the possibility of a shortage of all food supplies which is causing already almost famine prices, is alarming.

The Department of Agriculture working in conjunction with Mr. Fraser, is taking steps to protect calves from slaughter, and more especially among the dairies near the city, where thousands of calves have been sold to butchers or destroyed as soon as they are born. The arrangement is being made between dairymen and farmers whereby farmers can secure calves by paying a nominal charge for the calf, and similar to that paid by butchers, thus preserving a calf that would be sold for $6.00 to one which when two and a half years old would be worth from $100 to $175.

Should co-operation of all persons waste were destroyed, the present production of meat would be turned into a food production, with enormous financial benefit to the country, according to Mr. Fraser. From action this year is necessary he stated. He added that they should use the best type of sires in order that the offspring may be of the best quality.

Two Splendid Things

One is plenty of open-air exercise.

If you can't get all of that you should, it's all the more important that you should have the other tried-and-true remedy for a torpid liver and bowels that don't act freely and naturally.

Take one pill every night more only when you're sure it's necessary.

CARTER'S LIVER PILLS

Colorless faces often show the absence of iron in the blood. Carter's Iron Pills will help this condition.

Built by American

The debt of Downing street—the hub of the Empire, as it has been termed—America is worth recalling today. Downing, who built and named it, was born in America and educated at Harvard, where he built his own rooms of timber and glass. On coming to London he showed his Transatlantic enterprise by buying the lane leading to the royal cockpit at Whitehall and erecting thereon what are believed to have been the first brick houses of importance in the metropolis.—London Daily Chronicle.

$100 Reward, $100

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one decided case that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that "cancer" is not an incurable disease. The case is that of a man named John J. Carter, who has been cured of his cancer of the stomach. The cure was effected by the use of the "Carter's Cancer Cure," which is a powerful medicine that has been found to be effective in many cases of cancer. The cure was effected by the use of the "Carter's Cancer Cure," which is a powerful medicine that has been found to be effective in many cases of cancer.

The Christian Church

And the War

To Suffer and Die for the Oppressed People of the World

In this hour every Christian church should be a recruiting office for the Kingdom of God. The memory of our sainted dead, the blood shed on many a battlefield; the duty of protecting our citizens at home and abroad, to whose protection we have solemnly pledged ourselves in the fundamental law of our Republic; the cry of our kin across the sea, kin in more than blood, kin in their love of liberty. But in all these the Christian church and the Christian ministry should lead the voice of the Master saying: "I have come not to send peace, but a sword." And they should lead Christ's followers forth, his troops on their hearts, his sword in their hands with malice toward none and with charity for all, to fight, to suffer and, if need be, to die for the Master's cause."

—Lyman Abbott in New York Outlook.

Read While You Are Young.

Were I 21 again, I should do a great deal of reading. I believe in reading. I don't recall having ever read anything that didn't do me some good. I wish I had read more when I was younger.

If I were 21 again I should read many books. I should read the standard novels to get a good way of expressing my thoughts. I should study the great philosophers, but with the temper of an iconoclast. The study of philosophy is a wonderful stimulus to the intellect, but must be undertaken with a mind alert to fallacy.

Then there are books which present actualities in statistical form and couple such statistics with authoritative explanatory comment. I refer to the various government reports on various subjects that engage the interest of the man who wishes to be well informed. Our government wastes thousands of dollars printing these reports, which need not be wasted if only our young men would read.

Read! I cannot too strongly recommend good reading. Six hours each week of serious reading is not much, but it may mean the difference between a $20,000-a-year executive and a $25 clerk. Read! Learn to think with—and against—the deep thinkers of the world!

All of the true while you have been studying and reading and learning to disagree with the philosophers, when their logic falls foul of your own reasoning, you should be doing something that is productive of well-earned money.

—William Maxwell in Collier's Weekly.—

Newspapers Exert Powerful Influence.

Prof. MacIver, of Toronto University, has been saying things about Canadian newspapers. The press, he thought, could be made so powerful an influence in this country as to be almost hypnotic, but it seemed to him to fall short of its excellent possibilities. One of its weaknesses was the meagre use made of the "Letters to the Editor" feature. In England, said the professor, the best papers gave special attention to this voluntary correspondence, and its interest and variety were unfailing. I fancy there is something in this criticism of Dr. MacIver's. Letters to the editors of Canadian newspapers are usually of only fair-to-middling quality, or less, and it is but seldom that one finds a really notable contribution. It isn't the newspapers' fault, however. They print the best they get, but Canadian people have not developed the habit of writing worth-while letters to the press, as English people have. It is the common thing for men of affairs in England, leaders in business, art, and science, to speak to the public through the newspapers; in Canada, a letter to the editor is produced, generally speaking, only when somebody has a kick or a grouch.—Edmonton Journal.

Cleanliness.

The Bible says it is next to godliness, and it is, for a fact. Clean men, clean talk, clean food, clean books, clean pictures, clean plays, clean sidewalks, clean streets, clean homes, clean back yards, clean citizenship, clean habits, clean laws, clean contracts, clean consumers, clean music, clean dances, clean newspapers, clean baseball,—everything clean, no dirt anywhere to soil the beauty and joy of living. Being clean is not a sentiment; it is a great and adorable fact, and is necessary to high aspiration and courageous duty. A man cannot live in dirt and do great things. Says Mrs. Atherton: "Rags, tatters and dirt are always in the mind before being on the body." So the practical thing to do is to keep the mind clean.—Columbus, Ohio, Journal.

Melody and the Soul.

Is there anything which stirs the heartstrings like a little good music?

Some music affects the spirits, making one sad or gay; some music soothes and relaxes like a cooling breeze from the far waters on a hot day; and then there is music that makes one dance inwardly or outwardly—goes to the feet.

Why has music such varied affect?

Because musical sounds are an expression of thought.

Why those who will tell you that they cannot read a note always experience a change of thought whenever they hear music.

Then how important that we educate our young people to know the difference between good music and the cheap stuff.

Encourage everything which is a stimulus to the production of pure, good music.

It is like reading good books, or talking—conversing with the great masters.

Let not emotion alone be stirred; carry a song in your heart as a means of inspiring your deeds.

Province of Alberta Savings Certificates.

The Deputy Provincial Treasurer, Edmonton, reports that Provincial Savings Certificates are meeting with a splendid reception from the public. Under this plan one may deposit his Savings and be sure of receiving a good interest rate with the solid security of the Government behind it. There has been a steady flow of deposits into the Provincial Treasury, the amounts received from individual investors varying from $5.00 to sums representing a modest fortune. The average daily receipts continue to increase in amount as time goes on, evidencing the growing popularity of the idea. As the Savings Certificates Act was intended primarily for the benefit of residents of the Province of Alberta, deposits from outside the Province were hardly looked for, but considerable sums have been received from neighboring Provinces. The advantage of obtaining 5% and of being able to withdraw the deposit on demand without any unnecessary formality naturally appeals to investors, especially when interest is allowed for the full time the money remains on deposit, however short it may be. Another attractive feature is the option of having interest compounded half yearly, or if preferred, of having it forwarded yearly or half-yearly.

Gas at Tofield.

From the Tofield Advertiser. Gas, the magic word was heard again in the confines of our town Monday night, at the council meeting, when the town fathers met to discuss a proposition laid before them by Mr. Coyne of Edmonton. The proposition itself is very simple and means much to Tofield should it materialize, Mr. Coyne, promises that if certain concessions are made that Tofield shall see a drilling outfit in the corporate limits going down deep for gas within the next sixty days. Furthermore the town itself will be lit up with its own gas as soon as a good flow can be struck. It will be supplied the town at the low cost of 25¢ per thousand cubic feet for domestic use and at 5¢ for industrial purposes. Cheap power was the idea. The above mentioned prices was the maximum rate set and might be considerably less. It is the opinion of the council that the franchise for supplying of the town with gas at this rate will be let, providing that it is found agreeable to the ratepayers. There is absolutely no money to be spent by the town. The cost of laying the necessary pipe lines and of installing meters will be borne by the company. Furthermore a rebate of 5 per cent will be handed to the town of the gross revenue accruing from the use of the gas from the Tofield gas wells.

New Paper at Peace River.

The first issue of the Peace River Standard published at Peace River came to our desk this week. We note that our old friend R. N. Williams, formerly publisher of the late Tofield Standard is managing editor, while J. F. Price, formerly sporting editor of the Edmonton Bulletin is business manager. The paper is a very creditable one, and backed by the experience of these men ought to more than ever put Peace River on the map in bold face type among the top notch and desirable places in the province. This makes the second paper for Peace River which is not yet an incorporated town, as Chas. W. Fredrick publishes the pioneer paper, the Peace River Record. We wish both of them prosperity and continued success. It will be up to the Record to be above the standard, and up to the Standard to beat the record!

An exchange says that an owner of a Ford car was hailed into court and was fined for speeding. He paid the fine and costs cheerfully and seemed to be proud of the little machine. But he did get mad when he saw the justice make his docket entry: "John Smith fined for rushing the car."

P. P. Kjosness and family were down from Ryley on Monday taking in the big sports day.

Wm. Burgess, east of town, had the misfortune to be thrown off a horse last week and sustain a broken wrist.

Miss Gladys McKay, of Winnipeg, arrived Wednesday evening for a visit at the Dickson home north of town.

Robt. Scott returned from Wainwright last Wednesday evening after presiding at the departmental examinations there.

Harland Hilliker, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. B. Hilliker, left for Innisfail Wednesday evening where he will pass the summer vacation on the farm of his uncle, Mr. Kent.

Mrs. R. D. Couger, mother of E. D. Couger, arrived from Toronto last Sunday on a visit. Mrs. Couger who is in her 70th year has made her fourth trip West within the past 8 years.

Dr. Mecklenburg, graduate optician, 30 years experience 14 years in Alberta, office Williamson Bldg. Edmonton, phone 5225. Will be at Irma on July 18th and at Viking on Thursday, July 19th. Charges

Robt. Desilets returned from Sedgewick where he was employed the past month in a garage. The work slacked up so the two mechanics were laid off.

Mrs. G.E. Story left last week for Montreal and other eastern points where she will visit with relatives and friends during the summer months.

Among the celebration visitors on Monday we noted Jas. Primrose and the A. Ross family from Wainwright, all former residents of this town.

The Methodist church choir has disbanded until September 1st. The orchestra will play as usual at the services commencing next Sunday evening.

Miss Cora Stevens is the new "hello girl" at the local telephone exchange, taking the place of Miss Hildred Leary who will assume the duties of drug clerk in the drug store. Dr. Story has been unable to secure a male clerk to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of Wm. Moderswell who has accepted a position in Edmonton. Owing to the scarcity of male clerks, girls are taking up this line of work.

Mr. and Mrs. R. Sparling entertained a number of young people last Thursday evening at their home in compliment to Miss Grace Hicks who left yesterday for Saskatoon where she will pass the summer holidays. The evening was pleasantly spent in cards, dancing and singing. The host and hostess served a dainty lunch at eleven o'clock. Miss Hicks has been re-engaged by the school board to teach the primary grades next term.

The case of Joseph Hentges vs Joseph Chauviere for non-payment of wages was tried before Constable Shelton, of the provincial police and H.B. Collier, justice of the peace last Wednesday afternoon. It appears that Chauviere in March hired out to work on the Joseph Hentges farm to November 1st. On May 4th Chauviere quit work without notice, it is alleged, claiming $61 wages. After hearing both sides the magistrate granted Chauviere $40 and costs of court, to be paid November 1st. The magistrate spoke very strongly about the seriousness of men leaving farmers without notice after hiring out for the season.

Men make a contract for the season and then as soon as the hours get a little longer they quit and leave the farmer right up against it without a man or any help at all. If a hired man has any complaint to make let him bring it before the proper authorities and give notice to the employer so that if the difficulty cannot be adjusted, reasonable time be given so the farmer may secure other help.

Small

Cupid Held up the Check
This letter, received from a customer of a big concern may explain why payments are sometimes late:
"I enclose check for $43.20 to balance the long overdue account, and thank you for your forbearance. I confess to having been altogether too careless, but must shut part of the fault over to my bookkeeper, who is, and has been, so completely saturated with thoughts of love that she has at times been sailing serenely above such mundane things as my accounts."

A Spacious Bedroom
Easterner (after first day's work on a big Western ranch): "Will you please show me where I can sleep to-night?"
Rancher: "Where you can sleep! Great Scott, man, here's 10,000 acres; just pick out any blame spot that suits you and go to it."

Literally True

Both Quite Willing
A gentleman was out driving when he noticed that the near horse was doing all the work.
"That's a willing horse," he said to the coachman, pointing to the animal.
"Oh, yes," agreed the coachman, "they're both willing!"
"Both willing!" went on the gentleman, astonished. "How do you make that out?"
"Why, the near un's willing to do all the pulling, and the off un's willing to let him."

Unprofitable Speculation
"It's no use talking," said Jackson, dejectedly. "It's impossible to make a woman understand the first principles in finance."
"What's the matter now?" inquired his friend.
"Matter!" ejaculated Jackson. "Why, when I was away yesterday the baby swallowed a penny! And what does my wife but call in a doctor and pay him two dollars for getting the penny back."

Substantial Incomes.

What did your best cow earn for you last year? A seven-year-old grade in a herd near Oxford Mills, Ont., that milked from March, 30, 1916, to January 30, 1917, gave 363.9 lb. fat, which at 45 cents per pound equals the substantial sum of $163.75. Perhaps you got more.

Fortunately, the owner of this herd is keeping records of each cow that he owns and has the satisfaction of knowing that six out of his fifteen cows earned over $150 each. With milk weighed every tenth day, and a composite sample tested once a month, the actual yield of each cow for her full period of lactation can be found with but little trouble.

Milk and feed record forms are free on application to the Dairy Division, Ottawa. A study of records should mean an increase in your cows earning capacity by at least fifty per cent in three years.

WILL CONTINUE LONG THE IS OPINION OF MANY AUTHORITIES

LORD NORTHCLIFFE VENTURES A PREDICTION

Believes that the War is Just One of a Series, and that Political Upheavals and Revolutions will Occur in Most of Belligerent Countries, and Conditions will Improve

More than a year ago, a prominent Toronto soldier, returning wounded, replied to the question of a bore as to the length of the war: "Well, I don't know how long it will last, but I think the first seven years will be the worst." At the time the retort was made the proper answer was, "Har, har!" Now, there is another answer. Several authorities are predicting a war that will last for two or three years more than the first. Lord Northcliffe, who has been astonishingly correct as regards the development of the war in many phases, has at the time will continue for some time yet. In an article he contributes for the New York Tribune he makes a comparison with the American Civil War, and says that in that conflict both sides were unready and that it continued for four years. At the time it had been expected by some optimists to last for six weeks. He argues that the measure of preparedness is to be considered when the probable length of the war is being discussed. In other words, if the unprepared South had not been so unready, the war would have lasted for four years, he says. He holds out, having prepared for forty years?

When Lord Northcliffe writes for American readers, a reasonable discount is necessary. He loves American readers, which is natural for any writer. He also wants American readers to love him, and in the process he will not spare his own countrymen. On the whole, Lord Northcliffe is doing a good work in the United States; through the medium of the papers which carry his opinions to the nation. Two years ago his papers were thrown into the fire, and he was for a few weeks competitor of Hindenburg for the prize of the best-sold man in England. He has proved that his criticism of the British administration was right. His papers were restored to popularity. Soon it became apparent that his criticism had been well-founded. Suggestions he had made were adopted. So, if today or tomorrow the war should suddenly find of American methods, we may only hope that if these methods fail, he will not hesitate to speak as freely to the American public as he did to the British public.

He looks for a long war. He says that the three great events of the war have been the capture of Belgium, the entrance of five British nations into the war on the side of England, and the capture of Australia, New Zealand, and the minor colonies and India—and the slow arousing of the United States and its entry into the war. He has no reference to the submarine campaign, that in England they do not take it seriously enough, and that the United States have taken it too seriously. He contends that the submarine cannot win the war. He compares it with the threat of revolution in Germany, and says that the grand plan of the German army had failed. The grand plan was the capture of Paris.

Lord Northcliffe says that the war is but one of a series of wars, and that the submarine campaign he considers a mere phase, and he does not believe that it can achieve anything. Already it has produced a revolution in Russia, an upheaval compared with which the French revolution was a tremor. He believes that other upheavals will follow, and that revolutions will continue to accompany the war to the end. In his view it is impossible to conduct such a war without political revolutions in most of the belligerent countries. He believes, too, that the ruling classes of the world will be an improvement in the condition of the working classes. They will be contented no longer to receive the wages that were offered them before the war. They will demand greater percentage of the profits which they create. They will get what they demand.

His article is entitled "How the World Shall Kill Its Prussian Colossus," and he asks his readers to imagine that the allies are dealing with a cobra, or, in other words, with a state that will spare no effort to gain its point. A few days ago the Queen of Greece said that her brother was fighting for his dynasty. In the fight he has with the ruling classes, he is fighting for his life. When a cobra is fighting for its life it is idle to suppose that it will take any account of the rules of the game. The recent German order that all hospital ships be sunk is an illustration of the point raised by Lord Northcliffe. We in Canada have not yet come to this pass. We are fighting for our country, or for our honor, or for democracy, or for representation in the world, or for the greatest good to the greatest number, or for some other noble abstraction. We fight with a purpose. Do we fight for the world? We fight for our lives? That is how Germany is fighting, and we have to fight the way Germany is fighting. Toronto Mail and Empire.

Life in a "U" Boat

Sea Pirates Do Not Have a Very Hard Time

There is a widely prevalent idea that a submarine being a cramped and dangerous sort of craft, life of necessity be a hard thing for its crew.

This opinion goes astray in that it leaves out of account the changes which increased displacement has wrought in submersible vessels. Not the least notable of these is a great improvement in living accommodations. So much has this been bettered that the complement of a modern "U" boat are more comfortable at sea, all things considered, than the crew of a land destroyer. For while the latter must face bad weather as best they can when they venture to face it at all, the "U" boat can secure ease by going down until conditions improve. She may "sleep" on the bottom until the weather moderates, or, if the water be too deep for that, submerge so far that surface waves and wind affect her not. Her crew need not risk sea-sickness—and they do not!

Admittedly, that is only part of the story. One may avoid rough weather, and still find life afloat anything but joyful. Such matters as food, living conditions, and general comfort are factors not to be overlooked, and in all of these the Hun prairie does not do badly if from general surmise and not from direct experience, which is the one bunch of bitter herbs in Hans the Buccaneer's otherwise pleasant soup.

One might imagine that being boxed up in a steel cylinder for hours at a stretch subjects him to much physical discomfort. In fact, so far as the men inside are concerned, the men of a "U" boat would hardly know whether their craft were of wood or of steel, if it not for working the machinery that has to be put in motion to get her up or down. Inside her they are quite warm and comfortable, and very hard worked, and able to move and breathe quite freely. For their leisure hours they have books, games, gramophones and a good supply of tobacco.

A long submergence may result in the air in the boat getting very stale and heavy. Leaving out exceptional circumstances, that is the worst to be said of it, and a few hours on the electric light with the conning tower lid open will purify the atmosphere and the crew so that they can dive for hours at a stretch without suffering any difficulty in respiration.

For the majority of the men, work being of a light nature, conditions are as irksome as one might suppose. The life of a pirate is not fraught with many physical hardships and is a comparatively easy one. The men are attached to it belongs to a side of the story which we are not looking at just now. The pirate is mostly able to "do himself well." Cooking when below is out of the question except to warm up some food and dip his hands in the sauce before he eats it, and Herr Kidd consequently has to content himself with the most simple of fare. But although his meals through force of circumstances may have to be served cold, the pirate is not so much as he thinks. If his own lander runs low he replenishes it from the ships he overhauls. He takes the time to eat and to sleep, and he stores the pirates take them from the ships they attack. In fact, they "loot" these quite systematically, and they take away their money, watches, rings, and other personal belongings of even trifling value whenever they think it safe to do so.

The "U" boats were so supplied with wine and cigars though one does not hear much of such luxuries in the newspapers. Now, however, there may be there in diminished quantities. Of this much there can, however, be little doubt: the German prairie is a hard one to live on. The domestic side as is commonly supposed.—London Daily Mail.

Mr. Balfour

American Paper's Graceful Appreciation of Eminent British Statesman

Mr. Balfour has concluded his mission to this country. His farewell speech to the American people, delivered at the National Press club, was worthy of that great audience and of its author's reputation. He spoke with that deep, restrained feeling, that fine thought charged with generous emotion, that clearness, grace, sobriety and good taste that are characteristic of him. He spoke with a noble sympathy and appreciation of the work done by the government, by the president, the American war work so far. He was just to the country. He was just to the press. He described simply and powerfully the "impressions the most pleasurable, the most 'momentous' of his life." The American impressions of him are the same. He was received with an enthusiasm that must have surprised him. He was, by man, used to popular applause.

In personal dignity, in urbanity, in the authority of a long life, in the respect in his kindly, thoughtful speech, to the purpose and without glitter of rhetoric, by his evident response to the high hopes of the people of this great democracy, in his demeanor and his work, he more than realized expectation. Here was a great statesman, equal to his place and time.

He will be long remembered in America. He has done a high service to Great Britain and all democracies.—The New York Times.

Don't get the idea that you can catch happiness by running after it.

German Delusions

The Blindly Obedient Belief of the German People in Their War Lords

There can be no hope of genuine reform in Germany until an overwhelming majority realize and admit the absurdity of their present belief that their country, after exhausting every possible means of keeping the peace, was forced to defend herself against a ring of jealous enemies. That delusion is the foundation stone upon which the government have reared their whole gigantic structure of falsehood. While the people will fight equally for their beliefs whether those beliefs be right or wrong, and until this foundation stone is torn away the combination of millions of blindly obedient national human beings, putting their faith in a set of unscrupulously ambitious leaders, will continue to be a firebrand in the society of nations. This stone is so firmly set that it cannot be moved until Germany is forced to admit that she is defeated.

While the majority of Germans while at the British blockade of the German stomach, they delight in their own government's blockade of the hearts of nations. This stone is so firmly set that it cannot be moved until Germany is forced to admit that she is defeated.

The entrance of the United States will have no immediate effect of depression upon the German people. Since the war is not over, they have been educated to the belief that America has been doing "badly" and that England and Germany are not doing "well."

—D. Thomas Curtin in London Daily Mail.

"Justice for Everyone"

Roosevelt Outlines Rearrangement of Europe After the War

"Justice for everyone" should be the keynote of peace terms for Germany, says Colonel Theodore Roosevelt, in an article appearing in the Flag on the Firing Line, in the June issue of the Metropolitan Magazine. The Prussianized Germany of the Hohenzollerns has been the enemy of freedom, humanity, justice and international right, says Napoleon's France. They but strive for the peace of Europe and of international right. Did they but know it, the German people would be free from the tyranny of Prussia and would be guaranteed their rights.

"Belgium and France must have reparation as well as that which Germany must have. The Turk must leave Europe—a democratic Russia at Constantinople would threaten no one. Armenia must be free. Austria is not a country, but a knot of nationalities, of which two-thirds are not Austrian. Let the Hungarians keep Magyar Hungary and the Austrians German Austria. Let the Italians keep Italy, the Trentino and Trieste. Let there be a great Serbia, a great Bohemia, a great Rumania.

The world should include all of the Polish lands, and have an outlet to the Baltic through old Polish Prussia. The world should include all of the German lands, and have an outlet to the North Sea through old German Prussia. The world should include all of the German lands, and have an outlet to the North Sea through old German Prussia.

"The Germans would keep Germany, would lose nothing but the right to oppress others, would suffer no injury, would be made great by Home Rule. Seek justice for everyone, the Dane of North Schleswig; the Finn, the Uniate, the Caucasian and the Slav. Let each have the guarantee of real religious freedom and fair play alike for Catholic, Protestant, Orthodox Greek and Jew."

Importance of Constantinople

It is idle for statesmen to talk of concluding a permanent peace upon the basis of the present situation. The tangled northern France, Belgium and Poland, and dismiss as a mere strategic question the importance of Constantinople. Let us face the fact, until every other knot in the present war will be the beginning of preparations for a war even greater.—North American Review.

Almost as Good

The sergeant-major was inspecting the men on pay parade, and was seeing that their "locks" were well trimmed. Everything was going right until one Tommy who badly needed a hair cut marched up and lifted the sergeant-major's handkerchief and put it on his head. "Well," said the sergeant-major, "that's a very well ask you to get your hair cut, but for goodness sake buy a pennyworth of hairpin!"

True to Life

Sandy had been photographed, and he was looking intensely at his like when Tam Macpherson came along. "What's that he's like?" he asked. "My photo," replied Sandy. "What do you think of it?" "Man, it's fine," commented Tam. "It's right like you. And what's that like the coat?" "That's a different coat," replied Sandy. "I haven't paid for them yet." "Man," said Tam, more grimly than ever, "it's like you!"

Why Germany Is Still Unbeaten

Enemy Has Its War Organization Down to a Science

Under the caption, "Still unbeaten," the London Daily Mail writes: "By all the laws of probability and prognostication, Germany should be prostrate at our feet. Why, at the end of two years and ten months of war, is she still unbeaten? Why, faced by a hostile world, the enemy is still fighting? What is the secret of a situation which defies all experience and history? Is the Albigensian 'with' the German as the legend on their royal standard and imperial coinage alleges?"

These are questions leveled at me every day. If their answer required "expert" knowledge I should not venture to supply it—we are living in the era of exploded myths. But as the answer is simple, I have no hesitation in giving it. It is a multiple answer not easily expressed in a single paragraph. There are a dozen reasons why our ferocious enemy is still a foe in being. Never so easily as at the training of the German army now sent to Britain be drawn from Germany. I resist the temptation to draw them only because of their obvious weakness.

Germany is still defeat-proof because:

1. All the men, women, and children in the empire regard themselves as being at war and are conducting themselves accordingly.
2. The empire has a government which governs with no other consideration whatever than that of winning the war.
3. The nation's conscience is absolutely nothing to chance, anticipating contingencies and not temporizing with them after they have arisen.
4. The people, though disastrously low, has been organized since November, 1914, on a basis which makes "Victory or Death" a reality.
5. Failures in public office—military, naval and civil—are ruthlessly neglected, no matter how high-sounding the names of the responsible officers require to be sacrificed.
6. The industrial classes, realizing that the war is as well as that Germany is at stake, are working tooth and nail in the national cause.
7. Strikes are mercilessly suppressed, and broken before they have had time to spread by treating would-be strikers and their leaders as common enemies of the state.
8. Despite their failings and disagreeable qualities as a nation, the German people are a brave, patriotic and endlessly willing to sacrifice for the Fatherland.
9. The German army, after 34 months of the most arduous occupation, with minor exceptions, of the vast territories which their superior preparedness enabled them to conquer.
10. The German fleet is still intact, numerically more powerful than ever, capable of inflicting great losses over mind British waters, and is sinking hundreds of thousands of tons of allied and neutral shipping per month.

11. German man-power, which rests on a pre-war population of roughly 70,000,000, is no nearer exhaustion than the man-power of the United Kingdom with a pre-war population of 46,000,000.

12. German statesmanship, eschewing war measures like the stoppage of racing to save auto, deals with burning necessities like rationing of breadstuffs. The German government will not shrink from rationing the air men breath if it will promote the winning of the war. And it will not shrink from rationing the air men breath if it will promote the winning of the war.

Worth Knowing

A young fellow who had not long been married confided his trouble to a friend who had been married a long time. "I've covered a period of twenty years," said the friend. "Two days ago," he remarked very despondently, "I said something to my wife that she didn't like, and she hasn't spoken to me since." "The eyes of the old married man," said the young fellow, "are clammed up," he exclaimed eagerly, "can you remember what it was you said?"

Cholly—I made a perfect fool of myself today.

Miss Keen—There! I always said you could make something of your self if you kept on trying.

The Republic of Judea or the Republic of Israel, a home-ruled nation under the protectorate of the United States of America. Site: The land of their fathers, Palestine; capital, Jerusalem.

The world war in the view of many seems about to bring true the dream that has persisted through the centuries that the Jew has wandered the earth. He is about to have his own home back again, to live there or visit in security. That this security should be maintained by a reality is the idea of Israel Zangwill.

"Such a protectorate," he said, "would be expected, of course, to endure so long as was necessary to see the Jewish nation firmly established among the nations of the earth."

The statement to the United Press by the great leader of Jewish opinion is significant for its indication of a meeting point between the efforts he has led and the efforts of the Zionists of whom Louis D. Brandeis has been the most prominent in America. The statement of the Palestine office has urged that it is more important that the Jews should colonize somewhere at the earliest possible time, than that they should return to their own ancient land. Admitting the strength of the tie that binds them to Palestine, he has urged that if it is not feasible they should settle elsewhere. He has urged the passage of the Jewish government's aid for a proposed settlement in South Africa, Canada or Australia.

Now he agrees Palestine itself seems within reach.

Over a million Jews, scattered throughout the world, are now flocking to Palestine to drive the Turks out of the country that the Jews once had. From this thirteen million, perhaps should be excluded the six hundred thousand Jews who are fighting in the various armies; they, by late's war, will be last to know that the war may mean something for their race.

There is a strong belief in England that restoration of Palestine to the Jews would be a profitable political undertaking for the British.

Mr. Zangwill, "that all the Jews of the world would flock there to make their homes, and that the Jewish agriculturalists who find living difficult elsewhere, should be aided to settle in Palestine." He has urged that the basis of the new nation, Jerusalem's location might make it the site for a great commercial or trading port. The important thing is not to draw those who have prospered in other corners of the globe, but to draw those who are oppressed in other lands.

"With a Jewish nation established, the Jews everywhere would feel they have a home, and that the circumstances permitted them to live there themselves."

Zangwill won the support of Joseph Chamberlain and Winston Churchill in his colonization scheme before the war, but South Africa, which he had opposed it, has turned. A Jewish nation in Palestine is another matter.

The menace which Turkish possession of Palestine offered to the trade route to India must be removed, British statesmen agree. Even before the war many considered the restoration of the Jewish state the best solution. Opinion changed, however, during the war, largely because of the sympathy many Jews of German origin have shown for Germany. It was feared that a nation sympathetic toward Germany would be a danger to the British Empire.

The Russian revolution has changed the Jewish sympathy, alienated by the treatment of the Jews in Russia under the old regime, has been won back by the new regime. Jacob Schiff's declaration for the Allies following the announcement by the provisional government of equal rights for the Jews in Russia, was not the only one to come to the attention of the British government. A Jewish state in Palestine now would be a friendly, even grateful state, it is believed.

Zangwill's idea of an American protectorate is based on the desire that Jewish sympathy, alienated by the treatment of the Jews in Russia under the old regime, has been won back by the new regime. Jacob Schiff's declaration for the Allies following the announcement by the provisional government of equal rights for the Jews in Russia, was not the only one to come to the attention of the British government. Getting Away to a Bad Start

At the wedding breakfast the bridegroom, a Jewish sympathizer, young man, was called upon to speak. In spite of the fact that he had pleaded to be excused, blushing to the roots of his hair, he rose, intending to say that he was no speechmaker, but his choice of words was unfortunate. Placing his hand on the table, he exclaimed, "Ladies and gentlemen, this—this thing has been thrust upon me."

"How's your motor car behaving?" "Well, replied Mr. Chuggins, "the way it uses gasoline shows that while it may be weak in spots, its appetite is all right."

Fabyan

A. Betty has a new Ford car.

Mr. Fraser, grain buyer, left for Edmonton last Friday.

The Fabyan railway bridge is being painted by quite a force of men.

George Madder gave a dance on Friday night, June 22nd in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Kincaid who were visiting with him.

Master Jack McLeod, son of Postmaster H. McLeod, of Wainwright, is spending the summer holidays with J. J. Armstrong's small boys.

We notice a little French weed
in our travels and advice everyone to be on the watch for it, pull and burn in the stove. It would be too bad if it should be allowed to ruin this section of Alberta as it has so many in Saskatchewan and Manitoba.

All were grieved to hear of the death of Pte. Dalton, but yet the community can have a solemn pride in their neighbor hero, who made the great sacrifice, and his memory will live. What traitor can hold up his head and block conscription while the death of these,
our countrymen, goes unavenged.

What is Fabyan? Fabyan is a post office and station on the G. T. P., about seven miles west of Wainwright. It is in the Battle river valley and has a beautiful location.
There is a general store belonging to the Fraser Co., of Wainwright, managed by Walter Adams, who will also receive and see to the shipment of cream to any of the creamery companies. There is also an elevator at Fabyan, and Mr. Fraser, of Edmonton, is grain buyer. George Madder has built a fine new house near the station, and runs a livery. Fabyan is an Eveless Eden, but surely that can be remedied.
On a cold or a rainy day the prosperous farmers of the district sit on their fine nail legs around the stove in the time honored way and sample the various edibles while they settle the European war, Dominion politics, etc., to their entire satisfaction.
A blacksmith shop, and restaurant
would flourish at Fabyan.

Ordindale

Read work is in full swing in this district.

We are very glad to report that
Mrs. M. Barker is improving nicely and able to be up.

The crops are looking fine in this district and a bumper crop is expected.

Mr. Anderson and daughter
Nellie took a trip to Wainwright in their car last Saturday.

W. Prior is planting a row of trees along the road which greatly improves its appearance.

Geo. Hipperson has the contract of building the fence around the schoolhouse.

The young people of Ordindale took advantage of the holiday on July 2nd. Two cars went to Jarro-w and one to Mannville.

The fine weather certainly is hustling the grain along. John Mc-Creddie and T. Coulthart have wheat measuring 18 inches high and and heading out.

T. Coulthart's barn is now completed and is getting a coat of paint which adds much to its appearance.
Henderson brother were the contractors and to say the least they did a good job.

John Marshall and family have moved on his farm, joining J. Dalton. We are sorry to lose Mr. and Mrs. Marshall as they were always ready to lend a helping hand to aid in brightening the life of others.
